THE SOCIAL WORLD

Review of the Affairs of the Week in the Beau Monde.

Bright and Merry Weddings, Entertainments, Luncheons, Receptions, Weddings, Etc.

Last week was a bright, merry one, and one can scarcely tell which has been the favorite form of diversion among society's votaries, high five entertainments or the state parties. Toss which are so popular in the east seem not to have caught the fancy here in our far western city. Is America never to have the "conversations" which made the period of Madame de Stael and Le Brun so brilliant?

Weddings have been few, and will be so until June, the month of roses and the favorite time for marriages. Unlucky May holds fears for the timid maiden.

Of the receptions during the past week that of Mrs. M. C. Fox was the most elaborate and unique as well as the largest, no thought or expense being spared to make it a pronounced success, and it may be congratulated herself upon her brilliant triumph.

The season for picnics has arrived, and the last few Saturdays many parties of young people have found their way into the cañons, eager for a day's sport in the open air.

The Ladies' Literary club met Friday afternoon for the purpose of closing up last year's business and to elect new officers for the ensuing. Their work so far has been eminently successful and they may look bravely forward to the future. The subject, Russia, was most thoroughly studied, proving, too, of absorbing interest as it is to all the world. Many visitors were cordially welcomed from time to time and deeply enjoyed the efforts and research of the earnest members. The retiring officers gave very pleasing addresses and the members then proceeded to elect new ones.

The following were elected: Mrs. Thos. president; Mrs. Fabian, vice-president; Mrs. McCormick, recording secretary; Miss Hemphill, treasurer; Mrs. Gage, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. Y. Wallace, critic; Miss Lawrence, librarian. The subject for next year is "South America." Adjourned to meet the first Friday in September.

The club is now heartily at work with the Klirness, which begins the 7th of June. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Pioneer library and the object deserves the united support of the public.

Mrs. F. A. Druehl entertained a party of friends at cards in her cozy little home on Friday evening. Nine tables were set, and promptly at 8:30 the game began. Punch was served throughout the evening. When eleven games had been played the prizes were awarded. Mrs. Vincent was fortunate in winning the first prize, a handsome silver jewel case; Mrs. Volmer carried off the consolation prize, a beautiful bique vase. The first prize for second prize, a silver clear-holder and ash-tray, was won by Mr. Woods. The consolation, an oxidized silver paper-cutter, fell to the lot of Mr. Nelden. Then followed a delicious menu.

The guests of the evening were Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Ewing, Dr. and Mrs. Niles, Dr. and Mrs. Plummer, Dr. and Mrs. Vincent, Mr. Gunter, Miss Conlin, Mr. and Mrs. McGurrie, Mr. and Mrs. Baehle, Mr. and Mrs. Nelden, Mr. and Mrs. Volmer, Mr. and Mrs. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. Silva, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Link, Misses Lincoln, Morlan and Dincock, Dr. Hentley and Mr. Woodman. Mr. and Mrs. Druehl are most estimable host and hostess and their guests spent a most delightful evening with them.

Mrs. Major Downey, assisted by her fascinating daughter-in-law Mrs. George

Downey, gave an informal though very elegant luncheon yesterday at 12 to a few of her intimate friends at her handsome home. Covers were laid for twelve and a delicious menu served. There is no more delightful way of entertaining than this, both for guest and hostess, and it is the mode usually chosen by old families. The guests who sat down with them were: Mrs. Heider, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Royce, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Daggett, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Dart, Misses Wallace and Boyce.

A 6 o'clock dinner is to be given to the Howell's club at St. Paul's Episcopal parsonage, May 23, by the Ladies' Guild.

A coffee klatche was given by the ladies of the Congregational church Saturday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock at the new parsonage; it was well attended, and a most decided social success, the bright, beautiful and commodious rooms being tastefully and with bright women and fluent talkers.

The wedding of Miss Anna Edwards and Mr. John A. Shettle, Wednesday, was a very beautiful affair. The lovely bride was gown in richest bangle of purest white, made in exquisite simplicity, the hair being secured to the hair by jessamine, falling in unbroken folds to the feet. Her bouquet was bride's roses and she presented a fair vision of love. As she stood beneath the white ruffled bell of apple blossoms to solemnly plight betroth. The Misses Moffit, with Mr. Shettle, brother of the groom, and Mr. Popp were the attendants. The young ladies were cream silk and carried on a bouquet of pink roses, and the other yellow roses. An exceedingly interesting feature was that a pupil of Miss Edwards' played the wedding march. A royal banquet was partaken of and the happy pair left for their new home.

The present is the time when sketching parties are formed by art students and when easels, camp stools and big, picturesque-looking hats receive general attention. The sketching parties to park and suburbs are the delight of art followers of both sexes. And it is whispered strongly that Cupid hovers dangerously near in these times of the pencil and brush, which seem just made for the arrows of the golden-haired little god. So as art is looking up in Salt Lake city, we look for big things this fall in more ways than one.

Isn't it a good thing that the fashion of women kissing each other has gone out? It was an awful bore for the reserved woman to have to be seized and kissed and kiss in return her lady caller or the one on whom she called. If she didn't, it was considered a lack of friendship, and a serious rupture would occur if the cordial greeting was not given. Now not even dear friends are obliged to undergo the ordeal, and it's a boon to all that the swift little hand clasp has taken the place of the once gushing kisses. It was a senseless proceeding and its abolishment shows an advance.

The young ladies of the Fourteenth ward club plotted together and after some spirited management arranged an excellent program for a party, which took place last Wednesday evening. It had been set up more as a surprise on their beloved club leader, Thomas Butler, as a mark of esteem for his indefatigable services to them, and to show how substantially they intended to do it, they presented him with an elegant pair of pictures. The program consisted of speeches, songs and recitations. It would take up too much space to itemize each one. Suffice it to say they were all given in most excellent style, more especially the speeches, which came from the heart, showing the good feelings of everyone in the assembly. The affair will be an event long remembered by all those who participated in it.

Sarah Bernhardt is the fortunate possessor of a string of 100 perfectly matched pearls. She is exceedingly careful that her personality is not sacrificed to the glitter of the baubles, no matter how rare, which she owns.

women of today are far better developed physically than the young women of one hundred or even fifty years ago.

A Simple Hand-Whitener.
To make your hands whiter, melt castile soap and add a little water. Perfume slightly and stir in a little common oatmeal. When washing your hands run on this preparation and allow it to remain a few minutes. It takes out the dirt and whitens the skin in a most astonishing way.

But They'll Wear Ribbons.
The 950 women whom the Duchess of Portland has gathered in to her society for the Protection of Birds have pledged themselves never to wear the plumes of any song birds.

Household Tidbits.
Ivory may be cleaned by covering it with a paste made of sawdust, wet with water and lemon juice, first brushing it thoroughly with a soft brush, especially if curved. Allow it to dry slowly, then brush again. If not satisfactory repeat operation, as it is perfectly harmless.

Unrendered leaf lard and beef suet, in equal proportions, make the sweetest and best drippings to be had. Do not "try" them out in the old fashioned way of frying in the oven, and thus scumming the whole house. Put in a large iron pot, cover with water, and boil slowly until all the fat has been extracted, then remove from fire. When cold a solid cake of white fat will be on top. Pack in a stone crock and keep in a cool place.

A nice desert for warm weather is made by lining the bottom of a deep glass dish with any kind of marmalade, jam or preserve (not much juice with the latter), and putting over that a layer of blanc mange. Cover all with a whipped cream, sweetened, and flavored with a little rum.

Old Japanese tin trays can be made to look quite ornamental by painting them with enamel paint, in any light color, blue, pink or yellow. They will require two or three coats.

Pretty and inexpensive curtains can be made for country houses of colored cheese-cloth. When frilled with the same they are very effective, but even fringing the sides and ends, and looping them back with ribbon, they add much to the appearance of the ordinary seaside cottage room.

Wash the contents of a can of shrimps, and with about an equal quantity of sliced tomatoes put in a salad bowl, lined with lettuce leaves. Pour over it a mayonnaise or a French dressing and you will have a delicious salad.

Blankets should be washed, unless they are sent to the cleaners, before packing away for the summer. Have plenty of hot suds, in which is a little ammonia, and wash, but do not rub any soap on them. Rinse in warm water and hang out to dry.
